Hike Under the Lights at Chapin Forest Reservation

5,560 visitors November–March; dusk until 11 pm

About

With a little more than a mile of lit trail, you can walk, ski, or snowshoe your way through the woods at night. Night in the winter woods, whether there is snow or not, is one of the most magical times to be in the forest. The crisp air almost heightens your senses of smell and hearing as you stroll through an oftentimes missed silence. The feeling of being under the lights transports you to a place otherwise forgotten in the dark. The trail is lit until 11 pm daily from November to mid-March. Whether you love to hike, stroll, walk, snowshoe or cross-country ski, the lighted trail at Chapin Forest Reservation is sure to be an adventure!
